2019 TEACH Awards!

Nominate a faculty member now!

TEACH is excited to announce that nominations for the 2019 TEACH Awards are now open! Four unique awards were created in 2017 to recognize the efforts of our educators and highlight their accomplishments. This year marks the addition of our fifth TEACH award, the Rising Star Award. Please nominate exceptional faculty who embody the principles of excellence in teaching, who go above and beyond in their teaching role, and who will have a long-term impact on your career and that of others. Click here for nomination criteria and form.

Educator Opportunities

Participate in weekly #MedEd Twitter Chat!

Led by Gary L. Beck Dallaghan, Ph.D. on behalf of the Alliance of Clinical Education, MedEd Chat is a long-running chat on Twitter used to discuss medical education topics. These chats are held weekly on Thursday evenings at 9:00pm ET. Topics are announced each week and commonly generate robust discussion and idea sharing. To follow along and add to the discussion during the chat, log in to your Twitter account then search for #mededchat. Select "Latest" from the menu and you will see the responses coming in! Previous #MedEd chat transcripts can be found here.

Recognition and Rewards

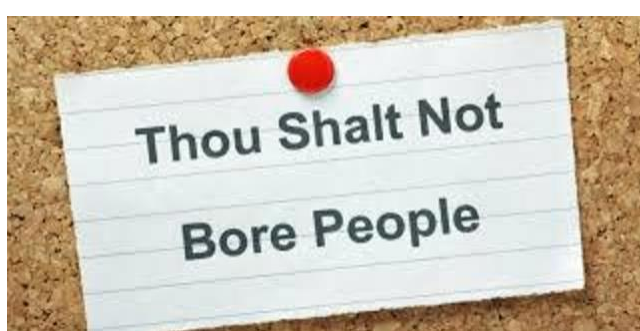

Welcome your new colleagues!

New TEACH Members: Please join us in welcoming our new member for the month of March – James Cain, MD.

Upcoming Events

Join us for Health Professions Educator Series!

John Epling, MD, MEd (Family and Community Medicine) will be facilitating our April Health Professions Educator series session on "Reading, Using (and maybe even Doing) Educational Research." Join us on Monday, April 22, 2019 at 12noon (CRMH 13th Floor Conference Room) to learn more about critically appraising education research from Dr. Epling!

In Case You Missed It!

Catch up on our latest Health Professions Educator Series & Education Grand Rounds sessions!

Last month, Renee LeClair, PhD and Andrew Binks, PhD led our Health Professions Educator series on "Best Practices for non-boring Sessions." Drs. LeClair and Binks shared great, practical tips for engaging your learners while avoiding some of the common pitfalls that we fall into when we are desperate to pull learners away from their screens. Check out their presentation here.

Earlier this month we were honored to welcome Sujay Kansagra, MD who facilitated our Education Grand Rounds session on "Sleep, Fatigue, and the Provider." Dr. Kansagra discussed the science of sleep, ways to recognize sleep deprivation and fatigue in our faculty and trainees, and how to implement strategies to getting better sleep! We encourage you all to watch Dr. Kansagra's presentation and take the time to share some of his practical tips on getting more (and better) sleep with your learners!

Tips for Teaching on the Fly!

Check-out Faculty Development Express!

Short on time but looking for practical tips to enhance your skills as an educator? Look no further than "Faculty Development EXPRESS: Tools for Time-Challenged Faculty," a resource for clinical faculty found on MedEd Portal. With contributions from our own Shari Whicker, EdD, MEd, this guide is intended to provide on-demand, convenient information to promote faculty development in teaching. Each Faculty Development EXPRESS document is a two-page, easy-to-read, guide that outlines practical tips, key points, and resources for several core faculty development topics. Check out the entire Faculty Development EXPRESS publication here.
