...planting the seeds of education

Good morning, all. Carilion TSG has recently taken additional steps to minimize our risk to malware. Therefore, you will encounter increased challenges when trying to open external links (some of which are included within e-TEACH and other important communications we send throughout our organization). If you are confident that the link is not high-risk, you may click 'Exit' (1) and then 'Exit' (2) again to access the document within Carilion Clinic Isolated Browser (see screenshots below). If you encounter any issues opening links or downloads within future communications, please email TEACH so that we can help to identify a solution.

NOTE: Practice caution when providing authentication credentials to access any website on the Internet. Make sure that the site is legitimate, especially if you're connecting to a link you received in an email.

- Invitation to Submit Manuscripts for a Special Issue of the Journal of Academic Development and Education (JADE): The theme of this Special Issue is: Anatomical Sciences in Medical Education and Research. We aim to highlight various aspects of anatomical sciences by supporting, promoting, and increasing high-quality scholarly endeavors in education and research. Manuscripts will be screened by the reviewer committee for suitability for the special issue. All papers will be peer reviewed. Deadline for all submissions is June 15th, 2022. Individuals who are interested in submitting should send a cover letter and manuscript by email at hajjhuss@oakland.edu. All submissions must follow the JADE Instruction for Authors for preparation of manuscripts for the JADE journal.
- The Generalists in Medical Education (TGME) Annual Conference: All are invited to submit a proposal for this year's TGME conference. It will provide a forum to share your educational research and educational innovations. The Generalists in Medical Education offer a variety of proposal and presentation formats: a) Round Table Discussions, b) Descriptive Sessions, c) Ignite Presentations, d) Panel Discussion, e) Problem-Solving Sessions, and f) Skill Acquisition Sessions. Each presentation format should meaningfully address the theme of the conference, but we encourage you to think broadly about "the new normal" in medical education. In addition to teaching and education scholarship, we welcome proposals on a wide variety of topics such as well-being, mental health, DEI (diversity, equity, and inclusion), telehealth, social justice, technology, and how our education spaces and workflows should change. Please submit proposals via the TGME website. Proposals must be submitted electronically no later than 11:59 pm EST on May 23, 2022.

Learning with Laughter: Thyme is on your side!

Spring crept up on us quickly and is speeding by in a blur as we approach the Summer months. With these changing seasons, and thankfully warmer weather, comes the conclusion of academic semesters, interviews, curricular changes, vacations, new ideas, and scholarly opportunities. As we attempt to juggle all the balls in the air, we
