Journal Club Volunteers Needed

Calling all TEACH members! Do you enjoy delving into the latest research and exploring innovative teaching methodologies? Yes? Then we have an opportunity for you!

We are looking for volunteers to lead our TEACH Education Journal Club sessions in the upcoming year. As a journal club leader, you will have the unique opportunity to curate and facilitate discussions around health professions education literature. Each Journal Club session is one hour and alternates between Zoom and in-person participation. Facilitators are provided with questions in advance to help guide their review and discussion.

Whether you are an experienced educator or just eager to learn, we welcome your involvement. If you have an article suggestion or would like to lead a Journal Club, please email TEACH today!

Education Day 2023 Wrap-Up

Another TEACH Education Day is in the books, and there is so much to celebrate!

This year's day-long event brought together educators from across the system to foster community, share ideas, and celebrate the educational accomplishments of peers.

Dr. Ron Harden (pictured at right) kicked off the day with the annual Richard C. Vari, PhD, Endowed Lecture.

The evening's Posters, Recognition, and Awards Reception showcased the educational research efforts of our community and celebrated the achievements of our annual TEACH Award winners.

This year's winners (pictured below), PDFs of all the selected posters, photos of the day's activities, and more are available on the TEACH website. A recording of Dr. Harden's lecture will also be available in the coming weeks.
